

Welcome to the 2017 National VET Conference

As we commence the 2017 National VET Conference, I would like to welcome all delegates, presenters, sponsors, invited guests, and Velg Training members.

The selection of this year's conference theme is a continuation of our Celebrating VET theme in 2016. We have an ongoing focus on 'Building Quality in VET' and you may notice the breadth of the program is quite different to past years with a greater emphasis on developing teaching and learning practices.

We invite you to select from more than 50 sessions being offered across 8 different streams, as well as an extra day of Master Classes. All sessions are delivered by expert presenters from a range of VET areas and representatives from peak industry bodies, including the Department of Education and Training and ASQA.

We have a record number of sponsors joining us this year with over 70 exhibitors taking part. I would like to thank our many sponsors for their continued support of this event over the past 11 years.

2017 has been another busy year for Velg Training, with the launch of our new website in April and the inaugural VET CEO Conference in June.

It has been incredibly exciting to watch the website grow throughout its stages of development and of course to experience the final product. This online space is fun, easy to use, functional and responsive to your feedback. It includes features such as the Jobs Board, Knowledge Hub and VET Directory. It provides a more personalised experience, with the activity section of your account keeping a list of your saved topics and events. We hope you have enjoyed it so far!

The 2017 VET CEO Conference was well attended and showcased a range of high-calibre speakers. This event focused on the skills and knowledge needed to manage an RTO at a strategic level. The feedback we received from this event was overwhelmingly positive and we can't wait for 2018!

Continuing our focus on Building Quality in VET, the NVC will include the launch of our exciting new professional development offering – Velg2Go. This is an eLearning program powered by Canvas, designed to allow us to provide quality VET PD anytime, anywhere! This will revolutionise Velg Training's PD offerings including customised In House PD for RTOs. Take the time to visit our Velg2Go booth for a preview of our first course.

Once again, the NVC app will be a useful tool for navigating the program, accessing session resources, monitoring announcements, networking and providing feedback. If you haven't already, download the app and customise your program to get the most out of your NVC experience.

Something that we all look forward to each year is the Welcome Function. The Welcome Function provides an additional opportunity to network in a more relaxed environment, and this year's theme of Mexican Fiesta is perfect for just that. There will be entertainment, food and beverages, so make sure you don't miss it!

As we come together over the next two days, I would like to remind you that this year's conference theme is 'Building Quality in VET'. With this in mind, take the time to network and collaborate with others to build new knowledge and reflect on ways your organisation can continue to build quality in the sector.

Master Classes

Wednesday, 13 September 9.00am - 12.00pm

Quality Engagement and Generation C

John Price, Kerri Buttery, Robert Lowe & Raymond Simpson @kerributtery

Room C4.5

This session focuses on answering key questions that underpin quality delivery of training according to the learner and the generation they represent. The definition of 'success' in the learning environment and how this can be facilitated for students will be discussed. On-going opportunities for continued engagement that effectively bridges the generational gap will be explored, some idiosyncrasies from each generation highlighted, and suggestions made for how, as professionals, we need to adapt. Attendees to please bring own fully charged device.

MASTER CLASSES

The Sharp Edge of Compliance - Sometimes

Joe Newbery @NewberyConsult

Room C4.8

This workshop will explore the concept of understanding the difference between compliance and non-compliance against the Standards for RTOs 2015, and where sometimes, this is blurry and subjective. It will include analysis of common Standards examined in a Renewal of Registration Audit, and will use a series of scenario-based discussion activities to encourage participant engagement and deeper understanding. Which side of the sharp edge are you on? This workshop is perfect for RTO owners, compliance managers or aspiring auditors.

Wednesday, 13 September 1.00pm - 4.00pm

Reigniting your VET Career

Mark Hodgson @MHThoughtLeader

Room C4.5

Are you frustrated with work and looking for a change? It may be time to discover your Second Half Hero. Many of us are anxious, unfulfilled and dissatisfied with ourselves and work situation. We know we want and need to change, but don't know how. This enjoyable and challenging workshop will help you understand where you want to be, identify what's holding you back, bust some common roadblocks and help set a process to fall in love with work again.

A Guide for RTO Managers: Planning for quality training and assessment

Kerrie-Anne Sommerfeld @k_sommerfeld

Room C4.8

This Master Class will share key strategies and practical advice for meeting requirements of Standard 1 from the Standards for RTOs 2015; which many RTOs have trouble with. A planning guide will be provided for participants to work with during the session. Topics will include how to develop and review a TAS, the development of quality training and assessment resources, having staff PD programs, annual plans for training and assessment, and processes and templates to help meet Standard 1.

Elective Session 1

Day 1 Thursday, 11.25am - 12.55pm

● Department of Education & Training ● VET Shaper
● RTO Management & Compliance ● Foundation Skills
● Training & Assessing ● eLearning

ELECTIVE SESSION 1

Skilling Australians Fund

Alexis Diamond

Room C2.2 & C2.3

This information session will outline the Commonwealth Government's 2017-18 budget measure to boost the number of people who choose and succeed in an apprenticeship and traineeship.

Governance That's Built to Last: Innovative techniques to manage an RTO effectively

Marc Ratcliffe @MRWED_CEO

Parkside 2

● Intermediate

This dynamic session will provide attendees with a range of innovative techniques to help them build effective governance and administration systems that are a requirement of the Standards for RTOs 2015. It is recognised that enhanced business viability and sustainability is positively correlated to quality training, and learner outcomes. Aside from ways to aid compliance, this session is filled with suggestions for operational review processes, and practical tips to build more productive and profitable RTOs.

To Grow or Not to Grow: That is the question

Tamara Simon @TheBSI4U

Room C4.1

● Advanced

Many RTOs grow very quickly without developing and implementing necessary strategies and essential systems for success. This can lead to overwhelmed, burnt out staff, constant mistakes, missed deadlines, difficulty with compliance and finding referrals. RTO business growth requires a planned strategy rather than it happening by default or 'good luck'. This presentation will discuss considerations, alternatives and best timing for growth, and simple systems to create and manage, rapid, profitable growth of your RTO.

Storytelling in the VET Classroom

Danny Loh

Parkside 1

● Beginner

Storytelling is an effective tool to engage and inspire even the most difficult students, and it has been used as a means to inform, educate and entertain people throughout the ages. This session will explore the concept of using storytelling as a pedagogical tool in the VET classroom. Included will be discussion on linking stories to VET frameworks, using stories for role-play, and as a problem-solving tool. Also covered will be some simple activities to activate schemata in students' thought processes.

Activating Brand You: Building the confidence and tools to build your influences as a VET leader

Mark Hodgson @MHThoughtLeader

Darling Harbour Room

● Advanced

Activating 'Brand You' is about increasing your influence and profile – both inside and outside your organisation. This session explores ways VET leaders can respond to rapid change and increasing competition. It will discuss your need – as VET professionals – to build your brand, how to unlock your confidence, truly engage customers, staff and decision-makers, and establish a strong professional presence. It will also cover the broader business benefits of promoting thought leadership.

Take the 'Play' out of Role-Play

Geoff Oliver

Room C4.4

● Intermediate

This interactive session will examine how role-play scenarios can be developed to help students develop skills and demonstrate competence. Controlled scenarios that closely resemble the workplace can provide valuable training and assessment opportunities. The session will show that a carefully constructed role-play scenario can involve multiple students, each demonstrating skills for different competency units, within the one role-play environment. Attendees will participate in role-plays to achieve full understanding of how this effective tool can be used in the VET classroom.

O RLY? Using GIFs & Memes in the LLN Classroom

Mary Brooke @MaryTeachesUs

Room C4.5

● Beginner

GIFs and memes are simple graphic and video images used to educate, amuse and politicise. This session will showcase the usefulness of GIFs and memes as flexible resources which embed traditional and technological literacy into a language program at any proficiency level. It will include practical ideas for language practitioners to integrate GIFs and memes into a lesson, as well as providing hands-on demonstration of how to make a GIF and meme from scratch.

Is eLearning Right for my RTO? or How I learn't the true value of Technology

Julian Ridden @EduRidden

Room C4.8

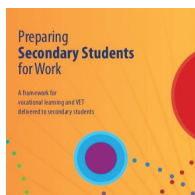

● Intermediate

This session will look past the buzzwords and hyperbole to address why RTOs should be investing in digital learning systems. More importantly, it will share how to look past fancy vendor marketing to better understand why the online learning space is so critical, why it is important, and which tools we really need. Once we better understand the problems we are trying to solve, we can more effectively choose a system to best suit organisational needs.

Elective Session 2

Day 1 Thursday, 2.05pm - 3.05pm

● Department of Education & Training ● VET Shaper
● RTO Management & Compliance ● Foundation Skills
● Training & Assessing ● eLearning

School to Work Transitions

School Transitions and Cluster Support Branch

Room C2.2 & C2.3

Join representatives from the School Transitions and Cluster Support Branch within the Department of Education and Training to hear about preparing secondary students to successfully transition to further education, training and employment.

Helping Business Drive Accelerated Yet Sustainable Growth

Shane Palmada

Parkside 2

● Intermediate

A common challenge facing all organisations today is how to grow quickly whilst retaining talent, fostering innovation and responding to and preparing for market volatility. EY knows all about accelerating growth, and we have distilled our experience, authority and know-how into the 'EY 7 Drivers of Growth', which can be disruptive in your company and the market.

Digital Learning Environments: A strategic approach for RTO operations

Phill Bevan @phillbevan

Room C4.1

● Intermediate

The session will cover the emerging area of digital learning environments, personnel and student engagement strategies, online verification & assessment and the future of digital environments in supporting all RTO activities.

Training & Assessment Q&A

Guru Panel @k_sommerfeld @HunterRto @velgtraining

Parkside 1

● Intermediate

This Guru Panel session will focus on training and assessment, providing participants with the opportunity to ask questions on a range of topics including: compliance with the Standards for RTOs 2015, AQF, assessment design, mapping, RPL, checklists and more. The session content is determined by the participants. The panel of 'Gurus' includes: John Price (facilitator), Carol Hunter, John Dwyer and Kerrie-Anne Sommerfeld

From Child to Adult: A theatrical experience

Carol Hautot @carol_hautot

Darling Harbour Room

● Beginner

This session uses a transformational way to present information through theatrics. It will explore leadership styles using the Parent, Adult, Child (PAC) model and give ideas on how to improve team dynamics. The use of professional actors to portray various dysfunctional behaviours allows audiences to clearly see pivotal points in interactions whilst Carol explains the PAC model, how it links to the on-stage case study, and how it can be used to improve workplace relationships.

Pendulum of Learner Experience vs Assessment Outcomes

Jason Ash @jasn79

Room C4.4

● Intermediate

Research reminds us constantly that an enjoyable learning experience for students is key to them retaining more information and successfully demonstrating competency. As trainers, more than ever, it is important to balance compliance with learning delivery. This session will explore seven ways to enhance the experience of learners, help them with information retention and set them up for assessment success.

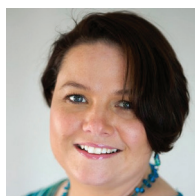

Strong Foundations: Preparing workers for the 21st Century

Chemène Sinson & Ann Leske @ChemeneSinson @AnnLeske GURUS

Room C4.5

● Advanced

Building quality in VET includes equipping adult learners with broader, more complex, and more versatile skills that are needed by 21st Century workers, and that are demanded by 21st Century employers. As one of two sessions, we encourage participants to take a fresh look at Foundation Skills. We will share current trends and research, and suggest tips and strategies to build the development of necessary Foundation Skills into your own training and assessment activities.

Google Apps for Interactive Learning

Kathryn McGilvray @Kathmcg1

Room C4.8

● Intermediate

Google Apps allows for a range of creative, connected, imaginative and reflective learning environments for learners. In this interactive session participants will be shown a range of 'Google Apps for Education' products that can be applied in the classroom. To take full advantage of the learnings on offer, participants need to bring their own device and have a Google account prior to attending. Supplementary material will be provided so the videos and activities from the session can be referenced later.

Elective Session 3

Day 1 Thursday, 3.45pm - 4.45pm

● Department of Education & Training
● VET Shaper
● RTO Management & Compliance
● Foundation Skills
● Training & Assessing
● eLearning

ELECTIVE SESSION 3

Speaking from the coal front! Hear from members of the national VET Alumni

Daniel Kelty

Room C2.2 & C2.3

Engage in a discussion with VET graduates about how the Australian Government, together with state/territory governments, industry and VET stakeholders, can raise the status of VET, making it a more attractive pathway to employment. Personal stories of success that led panellists to become members of the prestigious national VET Alumni and the internationally recognised Australian Apprenticeships Ambassadors Program, will also be shared. Session information will be used by the Australian Government to build strategies for raising the status of VET.

Quality & Compliance: A formidable intertwined (or inseparable) team

John Price & David Sachse @DavidSachse

Parkside 2

● Advanced

This session explores how compliance with the Standards need not be an activity driven by extrinsic motivators, but rather, an opportunity to gather important decision-making data that can be used to continuously improve business outcomes. RTOs already do many great things, and this session highlights how the evaluation opportunities that are presented as part of Standards' requirements can be used to drive proactive quality improvement in your RTO.

Quality Management Processes for Reviewing Assessment Practices

Carol Hunter @HunterRto GURU

Room C4.1

● Intermediate

Especially with commercial products or platforms, workforce skills for assessment development and quality review are important investments. This session is aimed toward people responsible for assuring, or making decisions about, quality assessment processes and tools for their organisation. It covers quality management approaches for reviewing assessment processes linked to commercial products, online formats, and integrated methodologies. The session also examines the RTO manager's role in assuring assessment practice, including contextualisation and customisation, and fit within the RTO's assessment system.

Achieving Quality & Efficiency in VET: Is it possible?

Joe Newbery @NewberyConsult

Parkside 1

● Intermediate

This session is perfect for those who oversee course development, RTO owners, course developers, compliance managers, or trainers/assessors, as it will present examples of delivery models where quality and efficiency are being achieved, and explain why. The tension between quality training and assessment, and competitive business operations will be explored, and consideration given for how technology can be blended with adult learning principles to achieve quality, efficient training delivery.

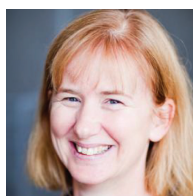

WorldSkills Australia Competitions - oh the places you will go!

WorkSkills Australia @WorldSkills_AU

Darling Harbour Room

Hear from three passionate speakers who have all reached excellence in their trade-based careers thanks to the opportunities and pathways gained through their WorldSkills Australia journey. Since 1981, the WorldSkills Australia Regional Competitions, National Championships and International Challenges have highlighted the value of a 'skills excellence' culture. This has raised awareness with hundreds of thousands of young Australians and their parents, as well as industry and employers. Hear first-hand how you can help your students also become their best!

Future Proof your RTO through Educational Entrepreneurialism

Allison Miller @vanguardvisions GURU

Room C4.4

● Intermediate

RTOs operate in environments that pose ongoing challenges. The right system, processes and mindset are required from RTO leaders to ensure ongoing success and sustainability of their business. This includes keeping a competitive advantage through lean entrepreneurial actions which are difficult for competitors to copy. This session explains how other RTOs are using educational entrepreneurialism approaches and innovative processes to future proof their organisations. Based on real case studies, attendees will be given strategies to adopt within their own RTO.

Making LLN Connections: Preparing workers for the 21st Century

Dave Tout @Dave_Tout

Room C4.5

● Advanced

Following Chemène and Ann's presentation this session focuses on skills needed to problem solve, and interact and engage numerically and mathematically. Ideas that numeracy and mathematics skills are also key Foundation Skills for the 21st Century, will be explicitly addressed. As will, why and how numeracy connects with a range of other skills and effective vocational education and skill development. Numeracy and mathematics related insights, trends and research will be shared, and tips to build 21st Century Foundation Skills, suggested.

Immersive, Social, and Personal Approached to Online Student Experiences

Sarah Phillips @PopEducation

Room C4.8

● Intermediate

Online learning is a common choice for people who balance work with career development. Unfortunately, learners may feel personal and social elements of study are unavailable to them through an online model. This session explores three considerations for successful online courses and ways social, personal, and immersive experiences can be effectively implemented. Micro learning, active communities, and simulations that enhance students' experience will be examined, as will strategies for planning and facilitating these approaches to maintain student engagement with learning.

2018 VET CEO CONFERENCE

Velg Training recognise that owning and managing an RTO goes beyond maintaining compliance and developing training and assessment materials. Business development, human resource management, marketing, innovation and entrepreneurship all play their own part in the growth of a successful RTO.

For this reason, Velg Training held its first ever VET CEO Conference in 2017. The feedback was resoundingly positive. Due to popular demand, we are adding it to our annual calendar!

Don't miss out in 2018 to be part of this high level event which will include lively discussions, engaging sessions and opportunities to reflect on how to grow your RTO!

ELECTIVE SESSION 4

VET Student Loans

David Fintan

Room C2.2 & C2.3

This session will give providers an overview and update on the operation of the VET Student Loans program.

Changes to Funding Contracts & What This Means for your Business

Nick McEwan-Hall & Marie Vassallo @nickmc @rieskitchen

Parkside 2

● Intermediate

Inevitable change can be overwhelming, particularly with regards to funded cohorts within VET. Ways State Governments tender out funding contracts, what's included in the contracts, and ways RTOs receive payment, have changed in every jurisdiction. Especially for RTOs who deliver across state borders, the compliance burden to stay current has increased. Funding contracts, how to prepare an EOI, course of action if unsuccessful, and how to stay current with changes – specifically those expected for 2018, are examined in this session.

NCVER: AVETMISS & More...

Alison Anlezark @NCVER

Room C4.1

● Advanced

Ever wondered what happens to your AVETMISS data once it is submitted to the National VET Collection? This presentation will provide you with an understanding of the National Centre for Vocational Education Research's role in the national VET system; and how this not-for-profit organisation can not only help you with your AVETMISS reporting, but also potentially add value to your business, by acquainting you with some of its useful research and statistical resources.

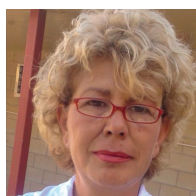

Mapping for Quality Assurance

Kerri Buttery @kerributtery

Parkside 1

● Intermediate

Ensuring your assessment covers the unit of competency it is assessing is a requirement of Clause 1.8 of the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015. The most straight forward way of ensuring and demonstrating this is through mapping the assessment against the unit. This session will explore the reasons for undertaking mapping processes, mapping templates and how to use them, traditional and streamlined unit formats, and examples of unit-by-unit and clustered approaches to mapping.

Mental Health & VET Students

Marina Tomasevic

Darling Harbour Room

● Advanced

Research suggests one in four people live with mental health issues. Therefore, it's likely some of your students have some kind of mental health issue. Working with students who have mental health issues is challenging, as sporadic student attendance, concentration and memory difficulties, and resistance to group work, are common. Students, trainers, and managers who are supporting their staff, are all affected. This presentation will share information on common mental health issues, and strategies to manage them appropriately.

ASQA Update

David Garner @dg_

Room C4.4

This session will provide an update on activities of the Australian Skills Quality Authority over the past year. It will also share ASQA's regulatory priorities for the next 12-18 months.

The FSK: Building foundation skills

Tim Rawlings & Dave Tout @Dave_Tout

Room C4.5

● Advanced

Initial feedback to PwC's Skills for Australia indicated the Foundation Skills Training Package required changes to address skills gaps, poor delivery and visibility, and clarity of learning outcomes. This session will present results and outcomes from the Training Package review, and proposed changes expected late 2017. How changes will affect RTOs, learners and FSK Trainers, and how Foundation Skills of learners and workers will be supported and built, will also be discussed.

Writing Quality eLearning Video Scripts

Darren Gray @Darren_A_Gray

Room C4.8

● Advanced

Holding the attention of learners doesn't always mean producing short videos. For quality learning to occur, concepts must be fully developed, effectively conveyed, and 'stick' with learners once the eLearning video has finished. This session will present several principles, methods and techniques that, when appropriately applied, boost engagement and 'stick' with learners. Crucial scriptwriting principles that can significantly increase your organisation's capacity to produce quality eLearning video, even on a meagre budget, will also be discussed.

Workshops

Velg Training offers professional development opportunities for the VET sector through workshops across Australia.

Face-to-face opportunities coming up include:

Members Networking Breakfast: Effective Training Product Transition

Sydney • 18 October 2017

This session will provide an overview of the requirements for transitioning to new training products, some hints and tips for keeping on top of changes and general discussion time for participants to share experiences about how they have handled the turnover of training products.

Guidelines for Conducting a Training Product Review

Sydney • 17 October 2017 Melbourne • 31 October 2017 Brisbane • 2 November 2017

The purpose of conducting an internal review is to assess the RTO's compliance with the Standards for RTOs 2015 with particular focus on the training product, primarily with Standard 1. The internal review is an integral part of the RTO's commitment to continual improvement.

Plus, take the opportunity to learn about the USI Transcript Update Tool - which allows training providers to make corrections to a USI transcript. Presenters will be answering questions at this session so feel free to bring yours along.

Ensure your Marketing Material is Compliant

Angela McGregor @RTOConsulting1 GURU Parkside 2 ● Intermediate

Your marketing material is a reflection of your RTO and its commitment to compliance. During this interactive session, you will develop a sound understanding of the compliance requirements for marketing, including use of the NRT logo and common mistakes. Examples of marketing material will be reviewed and information from the session applied to these examples. You'll also receive a copy of a marketing checklist to review your own RTO's marketing materials.

Australian VET Funding: How did we get here & where are we headed?

Jonathan Chew @joncschew Room C4.1 ● Intermediate

Understanding intentions and directions of government and how it arrives at VET funding decisions is a vital input for RTO strategy, risk management and positioning. This session discusses key trends in VET funding, the historical drivers of public investment, and policy outcomes achieved to-date. Analysis of implications of emerging issues from the perspectives of government, RTOs and VET students, together with an up-to-date view on outlooks across funding streams, will highlight key strategic considerations for RTO decision-makers.

Educator vs Trainer: Join a voyage of discovery with learning as the end game!

Darrel Vecchio @bizmatrix Parkside 1 ● Intermediate

Effective learning is a participative sport - we need to do it to learn it. This lesson was learned when Darrel tried to coach soccer to around 30 six-year-olds. They taught him to be an educator, not a trainer, and that learning's not just about the volume of learning, assessments or amount of training, but the actual doing, practicality and creating. This session will share some of the secrets of education versus training, and being an educator versus a trainer.

Developing You: CPD for Standard 1.16

Neil Von Heupt @NeilVonHeupt Darling Harbour Room ● Intermediate

Standard 1.16 requires VET Trainers and Assessors to undertake continuing PD. This session gives a straightforward model for designing and evaluating purposeful, comprehensive PD plans that will strengthen skills and knowledge for your industry and role. You will learn the six key areas of a continuing PD plan, as well as practical strategies for development for your current and future career. You'll walk away with clear steps to put informal, social and formal learning to work for you.

Delivery Strategies That Meet Learner Needs

Gayatri Mahesh @asqagovau Room C4.4

Drawing on the outcomes from the TAE project work, this session will present delivery approaches that incorporate sound consideration of the amount of training, taking into account the characteristics of learners.

What Do Foundation Skills Mean for the 'General' Trainer/Assessor

John Dwyer @velgtraining GURU Room C4.5 ● Beginner

I'm not a specialist in Language, Literacy and Numeracy (LLN). I'm a general trainer/assessor working in my own industry. So what are Foundation Skills and what am I supposed to do with them?

The Webinar Formula to Extend Brand, Recruit Students & Support Learners

Damian Noud @DamianNoud Room C4.8 ● Intermediate

When done effectively, webinar training can rival in-person courses for learner engagement, content retention and learning application. It has the added benefit of reaching large audiences in diverse locations at the same time. However, to have maximum impact, webinar programs need to be planned and delivered differently from face-to-face courses. This session focuses on the six steps for success in creating dynamic, engaging and effective webinars aimed at improving the transfer of learning and thus, business results.

Elective Session 6

Day 2 Friday, 1.40pm - 2.30pm

- Department of Education & Training
- RTO Management & Compliance
- Training & Assessing

- eLearning

Transformational Learning

Isabel Osuna-Gatty

Room C2.2 & C2.3

In this session, meet the 2016 Australian Training Awards' Excellence in Language, Literacy and Numeracy Practice winner, Isabel Osuna-Gatty. Learn how a combination of methodologies, approaches and practices connect Indigenous learners from very remote communities with pathways to work and further education.

The 3 Ps - Preparation, Participant & Post-Audit

Jennine Cochrane GURU

Parkside 2

● Intermediate

This session is a guide for RTOs on how to prepare for, and participate in, a regulatory audit, as well as how to respond where non-compliances have been identified.

VET Student Loans Ombudsman

Lee Katauskas & Angela Notaras

Room C4.1

The Commonwealth Ombudsman manages and investigates disputes about VET FEE-HELP and VET Student Loans. However, complaints handling isn't our only role. In this session, we'll share what we do, how we are working with industry to develop a Code of Practice, and how we work with the VET sector on best practice complaints handling. Join this session to share your thoughts on what the sector needs, and how the VET Student Loans Ombudsman can best engage you.

The Masterful Craft of Manipulation

Laurie Kelly @Mindworksteam

Parkside 1

● Intermediate

The experience of learning is more than just 'consumption' of information. For real learning and transfer of skills to take place, there must be a connection created within learners' brains. Your role is to become a benevolent 'Master Manipulator' in making this magic happen. Learning is about connecting brain cells, and this presentation will challenge you, and have you experience what this means for you and your design of learning and delivery. Come prepared to learn practical skills.

The Six Steps to Killing them from the Podium

Gerry Gannon @GerryGannon

Darling Harbour Room

● Beginner

Would you like to develop skills in the arena of public speaking? Or do you teach students how to make and deliver presentations and would like some tips to pass on? If so, this session is a must-see for you. This presentation aims to equip people to: prepare a presentation; an effective PowerPoint presentation; to understand the audience's requirements; and effectively deliver a presentation.

Risk-Based Regulation – what does it really mean?

ASQA @asqagovau

Room C4.4

This session will give an in-depth look at how ASQA considers risk, and uses intelligence to inform its regulatory activities.

Describing the Capabilities of Foundation Skills Practitioners

Anita Roberts

Room C4.5

● Intermediate

The Foundation Skills Professional Standards Framework is a new tool to describe the capabilities of the diverse field of practitioners who provide foundation skills services in a variety of contexts. This session will introduce participants to the Framework and explore its potential for supporting practitioner capability building, workforce development, and quality and compliance.

Knowledge Management & Social Learning for Newbies

David Lang @OzConsult

Room C4.8

● Beginner

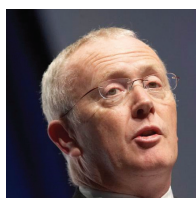

This session will show how to consolidate your database of learning resources so you can share your knowledge and experience across a range of social media platforms using simple, cheap and easy to use CRM and LMS systems. Note: This is a 'newbie's crash course' in social media engagement that will require attendees to participate throughout the event using cloud based operating systems. Attendee access to interactive resources and links will be available through the NVC app.

Elective Session 7

Day 2 Friday, 3.10pm - 4.00pm

● Department of Education & Training ● Regulator
● RTO Management & Compliance ● Foundation Skills
● Training & Assessing ● eLearning

ELECTIVE SESSION 7

The Six Steps to Killing them from the Podium (repeat)

Gerry Gannon @GerryGannon

Parkside 2

● Beginner

Would you like to develop skills in the arena of public speaking? Or do you teach students how to make and deliver presentations and would like some tips to pass on? If so, this session is a must-see for you. This presentation aims to equip people to: prepare a presentation; an effective PowerPoint presentation; to understand the audience's requirements; and effectively deliver a presentation.

Start with Why: Engagement, compliance & quality will follow

Lauren Hollows @LaurenHollows

Room C4.1

● Intermediate

With a collective 'why', organisations can achieve great things. RTOs face myriad legislation and without a united vision and team, compliance can easily be seen as red tape gone awry. By starting with 'why', organisations can provide clear context and simple structures so that staff can make the right decision almost every time. This session will help you identify your 'why' and give basic rules for setting up simple structures that work for your business, clients and team.

An Organic Look at Competency Progression

Graham Rodgers @my-profiling

Parkside 1

● Intermediate

This session will demonstrate that by looking at competency progression differently, old training paradigms of training for training's sake can be broken, and instead, holistic training outcomes driven by the student, delivered. RTOs will come to appreciate how this is possible, why it works, what to use to make it happen, and the benefits of improving competency progression and the bottom line. The presentation takes place in a virtual laboratory where the biology of a unit of competency is investigated.

The Road to VET Quality: Empowering students to embrace curiosity

Jenny Field

Darling Harbour Room

● Intermediate

If Australia is to be a leader of VET, there are some tough questions that need answering. This session will explore the value of student curiosity and how, as a sector, we should embrace this missing link to truly educate, inspire and empower our students. The notion of training, its cost, value, and place in our national model will be discussed, as will be the importance of helping students approach learning with an "I get it" attitude.

Panel Session – Ask an auditor

ASQA @asqagovau

Room C4.4

Do you have a burning question related to VQF Compliance? Bring it to this open Q&A session to "ask an auditor". Representatives from the Australian Skills Quality Authority will be on-hand to hear and respond to audience questions related to VET Quality Framework compliance. The panel will comprise: David Garner, General Manager Regulatory Operations; Gayatri Mahesh, Manager Regulatory Operations; and Principal Regulatory Officers, Jane Connors, Margaret Foran and Nadine Khoury.

Foundation Skills on the Front Lines: A practical guide to overcoming barriers to learning

David Cunning @Mister_Cunning

Room C4.5

● Intermediate

This practical session will investigate strategies for overcoming learning barriers and Foundation Skills development in your RTO. This session is aimed at trainers and assessors who have a basic understanding of what LLN and Foundation Skills are, or RTO managers looking to implement a practical approach to supporting learners from enrolment to graduation.

Designing Compliant Online Assessment

Tania Gomez

Room C4.8

● Beginner

Delivering training online is increasingly popular in the VET sector. The challenge is designing engaging assessment that can be delivered online whilst satisfying compliance requirements. This session will give examples and tips for designing and delivering assessment using online learning platforms such as Canvas and Moodle. It will also highlight what to consider before you begin.
